H.O.R.S.E. tournaments are widely being played in many tournaments and ring games. Due to the increasing popularity of H.O.R.S.E games understanding Razz poker rules and Razz poker strategy is a must. To play in tournaments that offer H.O.R.S.E or RAZZ it might be impossible to play unless enough exposure is obtained to play Razz. Razz is a game that has a lot of face up door cards with which it will be easy to assess what the opponent is possibly chasing. To arrive at what the opponent is possibly chasing one will have to develop reading abilities to calculate the possible in and outs of the game. The sooner the hands are dealt in Razz poker one will have to look deep in to what is there in the face up cards around in the table. The reading of the face up cards can give a clue to who is going to possibly fold and who is likely to stay heads up in the table. Keeping track of the number of the live and dead cards throughout the play is quite important. We need to watch if our hand is dead by watching if the card that we want is already the open card of someone else. If the hand is dead it is better to fold than staying on. Similarly if someone is targeting and chasing a card that one holds in their closed pockets, in such cases the hand can be slow played in having the dead player in the game just to juice up the pot more. Razz is kind of tricky because it is going to be very difficult to hide out from others about what you are actually chasing with so much of open cards that is visible to everyone in the table, the advantage is that everyone has the same kind of information leakage and this is what makes Razz more challenging.
